

Proceedings of the 4th Annual World Conference of the Society for Industrial and Systems Engineering,
Fort Lauderdale, Florida, USA
October 19-21, 2015

The Impact of Corporate Supply Chain Responsibility (CSCR) on Quality, Delivery Time, Information Sharing and Order Flexibility: Research Framework and Propositions

E. González-Trejo, G. Pedroza-Cantú, J. Hernández-Ramos, and R. Mata-Martínez

Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León
School of Chemical Sciences, Area of Industrial Engineering and Administration
Nuevo León, México

Corresponding author's Email: elisgoz@yahoo.com.mx

Author Note: We want to express our gratitude to the authorities at Facultad de Ciencias Químicas de la Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León for all their support during this study. Any special requests regarding this study will be welcome at elisgoz@yahoo.com.mx.

Abstract: There has been a strong interest in corporate social responsibility (CSR) research in the last decade. An interesting extension of this stream of research is corporate supply chain responsibility (CSCR). In this study a conceptual framework on the effect of CSCR practices on quality, delivery time, information sharing and order flexibility will be presented. In addition, and based on this framework some interesting research propositions will be develop and some useful managerial implications will also be discussed.

Keywords: Corporate Supply Chain Responsibility, Quality, Delivery Time, Order Flexibility, Information Sharing